er
cyclists are themselves h Hills for Challenge passes over and the bok, Wun- and Serpen-time dams and includes more than 2000m of steep climbing. Event ambassador Charlie Gargett said for many riders, the challenge was about just crossing the line. "It's not always about com- petition," he said. "It's a tough ride but you shouldn't belt yourself against the course trying to get it done as lions are awarded to every- one who finishes.

For safety, all cyclists must ride with a partner and they must withdraw together.

The ride starts at 6am on Sunday at Sir James Mitchell Park for 16 to 65-year-olds.

A 146km Three Dams chal- lenge takes place the same day.
