

BWA APPOINTS NEW VICE PRESIDENT

Tracy Rainford has resigned from the BWA Board after dedicating her time for over 16 months with four months as Vice President. Existing Board member Jason Balchand has been appointed by the Board to the position.

Jason Balchand is an accomplished business leader with a strong background in digital innovation and marketing strategy.

“I’m thrilled and very humbled to be appointed as Vice President of BWA. I’m excited to have the opportunity to help the organisation flourish and continue to serve its members,” said Jason Balchand, BWA Vice President.

“On behalf of the Board, staff and our members, I would like to thank to Tracy for her devotion and hard work on behalf of BWA,” said James Fairbairn, BWA President.

“Jason has been an integral part of BWA as a board member and sub-committee member since April 2017. We are extremely fortunate to have someone with great experience to fulfil this crucial Board role, and I’m looking forward to working closely with Jason as we continue to work on enhancing our members experience and providing them with a voice,” said James Fairbairn, BWA President.

###

About Bicycling Western Australia

BWA is an independent, membership-based organisation focused on representing our members and improving riding conditions. BWA is self-funded through the support of its members; event participants; and partners.

We are working hard to delivering premier cycling events, products and services that are highly valued by our members and the broader recreational cycling community.

For more information please visit: bwa.org.au

Bicycling Western Australia acknowledges the generous assistance of the following partners:

Media enquiries:
Katie Presenza
Marketing Assistant
T: 08 6336 9696
E: info@bwa.org.au

Media statements & interviews:
Chris Gaskell
Chief Executive Officer
T: 08 6336 9696
E: info@bwa.org.au